Watch: Fauci Is 'A Pathological Liar,' Journalist Says

Independent journalist Paul D. Thacker, who has investigated Dr. Anthony Fauci and the origins of COVID-19, says Fauci's testimony to the U.S. House of Representatives on June 3 was "the most dishonest I've seen from the U.S. House of Representatives since Saddam Hussein as the Commerce Secretary was filled with lies."

During a two-day closed-door interview last week before the U.S. House of Representatives Select Subcommittee on the Coronavirus Pandemic, Dr. Anthony Fauci said "I don't recall" more than 100 times in response to lawmakers' questions about his role as the nation's top infectious disease official.

But independent journalist Paul D. Thacker, who has investigated Fauci and the origins of COVID-19 and reported his findings on his Substack, The Disinformation Chronicle, told "The Defender" in-Depth" this week that Fauci's testimony was "the most dishonest I've seen."

"From what was released thus far from the transcript," Fauci "for the most part, we were then lied to, and anyone who brought this up — he's already said — he's already said these untrue statements before."

Thacker is currently also focused on issues such as controversial gain-of-function research funding of such research at the Wuhan Institute of Virology in China under its watch.

According to Thacker, Fauci has repeatedly contradicted himself over the years, and his statements last week are no exception.

"Fauci has, on some occasions, said things over and over again and then come out and said something totally different," Thacker said. "He says that he never thought that ... it was a conspiracy theory to say that the pandemic could have started from the lab. He's said the opposite many times."

The man has a problem with lying'

According to Thacker, an email last beginning in January 2020 shows Fauci and the agency he directed for decades — the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) — were "funneling money" into the Wuhan Institute of Virology and to researchers and organizations who were "doing the work for them," including the Wuhan Institute Fauci and Dr. Jeremy Farrar, and the Ecohealth Alliance and Peter Daszak, PhD.

"[In] the first month of the pandemic, what we see are some internal emails from the NIH (National Institutes of Health, NIAID's parent agency) discussing what they knew internally about a group called Ecohealth Alliance, which is at the center of all this ... They had direct ties," Thacker said.

"These emails are actually discussing, ... the funding that was going directly from Peter Daszak's Ecohealth Alliance into Wuhan, and then also concerns about the type of research that was going on in Wuhan, which involved manipulation of viruses," Thacker said, referring to gain-of-function research.

"And then what's interesting, happened," Thacker said. "For the next year, we were then lied to, and anyone who brought this up was then attacked as a conspiracy theorist."

On Feb. 1, 2020, Fauci and several prominent virologists communicated via email and a call "to discuss the origins of the coronavirus and the Wuhan Institute of Virology, during the communications, "there was concern that the virus might have been manipulated ... that this virus was not natural."

Yet the product of these communications was the now infamous "Proximal Origin" paper published in Nature Medicine, which shot down the lab-leak theory of COVID-19 and instead promoted a narrative that the virus crossed over from animals to humans.

According to Thacker, emails and documents show that Fauci played a significant role in the publication and subsequent promotion of this paper.

"We know he was involved because he was sent the draft of the paper multiple times, and we know it was the draft of the paper because what he was sent, complete phrases and thoughts, ended up in the final product," Thacker said.

Thacker said:

> "They were funding research in Wuhan, the NIH was ... [Fauci] knew all of this. There were concerns about the investigation that this thing could have been genetically manipulated. And then something like eight days later ... he went on Next Gen/Sirius podcast ... and said 'Oh, listen, that's a conspiracy theory.' And then he turned back around and said that he's been called a conspiracy theory.
>
> "The guy has an ability to continually run the opposite of what he said prior ... The man has a problem with lying. He's a pathological liar. I mean, he's caught repetitively. The problem he has is there is a paper record."

'The narrative has never made any sense'

Referring to several influential research papers, including "Proximal Origin," that promoted the narrative of COVID-19's origin, Thacker said they served "a) create the narrative and b) create a sort of emphasize it and repeat the same narrative over and over again 'conspiracy theory,' no possible lab accident, 'Wuhan.'"

"When you look back on all this stuff, which took many years to unravel, what you find out is this was all done behind the scenes ... it was all orchestrated, some of it was [Dr. Anthony Fauci], some of it was Farrar," Thacker said.

Thacker said:

> "Their narrative has never made any sense. They've never been able to make it make any sense. The science writers out there [are] much more concerned with the following: They haven't really been able to ... they haven't really discovered the money and grants for this type of activity to continue."

Thacker, who contributed to the release of the "Twitter Files," said that while reviewing documents at Twitter headquarters, he located an email from "one of the top lawyers at Twitter who was involved in censorship ... who was involved in meeting with the FBI and determining what was and was not 'false and misleading information.'"

This email, said Thacker, "discussed Fauci" and referred to him as "the expert on the coronavirus pandemic response."

"I think that kind of tells you all we need to know," Thacker said.

Public 'becoming more and more savvy'

"What this pandemic did was devastating to a lot of people across the planet, a horrendous economic. And to this day, we still have no accountability either for how we dealt with the pandemic or how it possibly could have started," Thacker said. "The issue is whether they're going to be able to ivory tell him down," referring to Fauci.

Noting that the U.S. Senate previously referred Fauci to the U.S. Department of Justice, Thacker said, "I don't know what [DOJ] will do [and] then caught at the other end of the ... the public becoming more and more savvy to the fact that this stuff doesn't make any sense."

There is zero possibility that anyone over at the Department of Justice is going to prosecute the medical adviser to the president who gave them their job," he added.

Thacker, a former U.S. Senate investigator, explained that closed-door interviews in Congress are "not the best way to get information out," and that "the public needs to see this in a public hearing to remember what statements they said they can't use the opposite when they're in a public."

This serves as a prelude for a public hearing — in which Fauci is scheduled to appear before the U.S. House later this year.

Thacker said that the public hearing is likely to be a food fight" where Fauci is "going to do his Anthony Fauci duck-and-dodge."

"My guess is we'll see stories pop up in The New York Times, Science Magazine or Nature, to sort of undermine anything that might possibly make Fauci look bad," Thacker said. "It's going to be ... [and] ... 'we've done nothing wrong and we're not doing it anymore.' That's going to be the narrative."

Thacker said the good news is the public is incredibly aware of what's happening.

"I think there's a lot more awareness and people seem to be fact that this stuff doesn't make any sense," he said.

Protecting our children lies in a whole new meaning. It's no longer just protecting children from sexual predators. The Democrats and the Leftists and Rogue are coming our country and trying to oppose how they feel and want to raise.

Hmm! Fauci has been in U.S. government for 5+ decades almost. So, this progression knows he is corrupt, and has been for a long time. Yet, he was appointed by Trump, and kept on by Trump. Trump was trying to be loyal to Fauci but under Republican administrations. What does Fauci under Dems have on the Dem? What was he under Bush I and Bush II? What was he under Trump? I am a progressive and I can see that Fauci is corrupt. Democrats should be able to see that Fauci is corrupt. Fauci was in the CIA under Bush I or H.W. Bush's Presidency. Every single one of them knew and covered up for the other ones.

"VA Never Disclosed Safety Signal On Pfizer Vaccine After Finding It"
The CDC and VA had a strong responsibility to tell the public know about the signal but chose to bury it in the hope that it would disappear, according to Dr. Peter Stein, a former director at the agency.
An email from May 13, 2021, that was obtained by the Epoch Times revealed that the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs observed a signal for myocarditis and pericarditis for the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine.

Fauci is a pathological liar, but he is not 'proud' to be so. Trump was president when the pandemic hit. He shut down the country and overrode Fauci and health agencies, who are run by CORPORATIONS. Do you really believe Pfizer or Moderna are Board elected entities?

What rubbish. At the beginning of any contribution. No one knew anything and less and essentially nobody at all with Trump needed any advice from Fauci. Trump was the president and Fauci was the CDC boss who played golf with Trump. Trump was the boss and he was the president but Fauci and the CDC were whispering disinformation to Joe and he had to rely on his subordinates to tell him what to say.
No one criticism is that he still did it wrong. Many Qanon and a few others could have considered the poisonous line about.

So what this shows - the public now realize - is that you cannot trust scientists and therefore you cannot trust the science. Science is not a religion where you have to believe what you're told. Science is the process of critical thought, experimentation and physical interventions like lockdowns and masks - not to destroy economies but to establish the scientific community. Next time you see Richard Dawkins or Tim Hunt banging on about brain-less mouth-breathers who don't believe in science, remember that science is not a religion. Science is the process of critical thought, whereas spiritual uncertainty and the inability to question God and Bertha is the form most dismissive.
